FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Albany, NY, March 8, 2011—Web solutions provider TurnKey Internet today announced the release of its reseller program for Voxwire Gold web conferencing. Voxwire Gold is the newest edition of TurnKey Internet's cloud-based (SaaS) web conferencing and online meeting service designed for collaborating and communicating over the Internet via online meetings, remote training, distance learning, sales presentations and large-scale webinars. Resellers will be able to offer branded web conferencing services through Voxwire Gold, including private label training videos, manuals and a website interface. Resellers can set their own price points, selling the service under their own name through their own website with 50% or greater profit margins.

Voxwire Gold Web Conferencing offers flash-based architecture (no downloads, cross-platform); high definition video; file sharing and remote desktop control; a multi-use white board; recording; and seamless integration of documents, presentations and video. Resellers have no start-up costs, no software to set up and no contracts. The Voxwire Gold reseller package comes complete with a WHMCS Billing System plugin, a private label web control panel, and a pre-made website offer page. Voxwire Gold positions resellers to take advantage of the 1.3 billion dollar web conferencing industry.

"We are excited to be able to offer our reseller clients a product in such high demand that can be branded and packaged so easily," said Adam Wills, President and CEO of TurnKey Internet. "We've put together a complete package with all the tools a reseller will need to bring this innovative, green-friendly communication platform to market. This is a true 'turnkey' product that allows our resellers to start making sales from day one."

Voxwire Gold is available to resellers via <http://voxwire.com/reseller>. The service starts at just $20/month with a suggested retail value of $49/month. Resellers may offer their potential clients 7-day free trials. This is a risk-free opportunity for resellers to offer web conferencing to their customers.
